“logic does not give the basis of its own absurdly necessary underpinnings. bases are founded through a complexity, a multitude of organic signs and anti-signs, non-signs and composites, incomplete and shifting unit forms to function – far from useless, rather logic's absurd (read particular/shift) contingency – namely logos (any): “apple” or “cloud” or “or”; the logos figures its domain, pre-necessitated figurations.”

what gives it birth, he says, is nonsense – to it. to which sen replied – if the parent is nonsense, what is the child? the same, yin pu said.

in slaughter's latest tv effort – supposed family ties – the social paradigm is bent to include a materialist aesthetic in the crucial delimit – the popular of the popular. that the shock site and the parallel lives of net documentation are superceding it, is a dream over which “the pragmatics of singular media” (mcluhan) will not easily lose hegemony. real social problems – the finding of foundlings, the gypsy child saved and brought up in the heath castle on environ (as per se the dickens novel) – the problems of famine, and burglary. dickens inhabits the space most reviled by contemporary – clandestine – enterprise – that of the demonic helper.

how kali and bronte and slaughter's pioneering adaption of the 'switheny toad fables, provides not only an explicative for fictive murder, but also a basis on which the family drama can juxtapose both pathos and *anteros. the disappointment that one finds in scanning film archives for the underwater genius (expecting a kind of socratic participant in the ionic theatre he so recently deconstructed) is compensated for the high and low moments: the appreciation of republican endeavour, the realization of 60's cliché without losing sight of the inherent value in the movements towards a more liberalized sphere of representation. strasser's work provides a neat and succinct rebuttal to the multiplectical simulacral artifices of both saussure and legine. to think that the song dynasty could be fittingly represented to a foreign populace so keen on individuation is a testament to the power of television.

the kantian reply would be to isolate the fable's unknowingness, but this is irrelevant, as li zing said "the known of the knowing is found in the known's autocratic knowledge" – in other words, the filial representation of ideals does not need the pragmatics of the horror story, although it is infused with the beheadings of the life-celebrator, most importantly as it is found in the broadcast.

most recently working on an addendum to the 18th century biological classic ‘of species and arisal in the anselmian system’. surprising not solely for the integration of anselm’s critical ontology, but also for its biblical prefiguration of the divisionary principle later apparent in russel’s hagic classification theorem. interestingly, the multinymous author’s plagiarization of vesalius is crucial for the overall success of the work’s “epistemic layers” as hakamita defined them. this concept of the composite reflector would not be new to pioneers like parmenides and atrahasta. indeed the “unwritable” (nietzsche) isocadecimal system has an inevitable reflection – whose character and essence enheduanna so deftly and completely brought to life: the marxian dialectic is too simplistic. rather there is a deconstructive capric theoretical: the organic is a polyantagonist, the compromises of female oppression, worker oppression and racial oppression are simply not synonymous. overlaps can, however, be pragmatic, but the paradigmatic enunciation of odal utterance, belies enheduanna as the representative of an uncompromising classification of what isn’t written, and is unitary despite its preceptical need for temporal divisions.
